President's Report

It was with a tinge of sadness that I took over the presidency towards the end of the season. Peter O'Neill had to resign his position due to the illness of his wife, Lyndy. I personally, and on behalf of the Club, would like to wish Lyndy a full and speedy recovery and thank Peter for all his efforts over the last five seasons. We hope to see you back next season, mate.

The 1998 season, although disappointing on the field, was very positive in other areas. We were able to field a third grade side with reserves each week, a feat we were unable to achieve in the 1997 season. The return of old faces, and an influx of new ones guaranteed we had playing numbers each week. All sides were competitive throughout the season and earned the praise and respect from opposition Clubs.

As of the 1st September 1998, Tech-Waratahs Rugby Club became affiliated with the Gangrenes Old Boys Rugby Club. I believe this affiliation will be mutually beneficial for both parties and I welcome the Gangrenes into our Club.

I would also like to mention all those people who have made this season possible. Firstly, the Club Committee for all their tireless efforts throughout the year. To our sponsors; Gilmores Hotel Coniston, Jeffrey M Jones Solicitor, Coastwide Engineering, Keiraville Pharmacy, Karas Smash Repairs, Great Western Carpets and Pizza Hut Fairy Meadow. Our thanks go out to you for your support throughout the season, and I hope our relationship will continue for years to come.

To our coaching staff; Rob Steward, Tony Leeder-Smith, Trevor Cowl, Will Madden and that other bloke (whom I believe to be the best in the district), thanks for all your hard work during the year. To Michelle and Bronwyn, a big thank you for getting us on, and keeping us on the paddock all year. To Susan, Christine and Leigh thank you for your tireless work in the canteen all season – your efforts are very much appreciated. To Mick Honeysett and the Junior Committee, well done on another successful season. We were able to field teams in all four age groups, and for this, congratulations to the coaches and players.

To all those players who reached representative honours this season, I also offer congratulations. Special mention must go to Rodney Petty and Marty Schliebs. Rod not only played in the Country Seniors XV, but also played a starring role in the Australian under 19 victory over New Zealand. Well done Rod! Marty capped off another great year with his selection in the Australian Schoolboys team. Though Australia went down against New Zealand in their Test Match, Marty played extremely well and rated a mention the following day in The Daily Telegraph. After finishing his HSC Marty will be touring the UK for a month, playing Test Matches against England. Good luck Marty and we know you'll kill the Poms!!

Finally, I would like to personally thank some special people for their support over the past several months. To Rick, Ronnie, Tony, Paul, Barry, Simon, Sue and Justin I don't know how I would have managed without you.

In closing, the committee are well under way in planning for the 1999 season. I would like to take this opportunity to invite all the players to return next season.

Training schedules are currently being put into place for the off-season. You will be notified by mail.

With the improvements this past season, combined with the plans for 1999, I am feeling very confident we can place our Club as the Premier club in the district.

Yours in rugby,

Wayne Ireland

Treasurer's Report

Well, here we are again, the 1998 season at an end. The overall performance of the teams this season I feel has improved, of course we would have liked it to have been better. I will not expand on this as it will be covered in other reports by those with a better knowledge of rugby than me. However, congratulations to all players, coaches, managers and supporters.

Financially there were several areas that as a club we have improved in. I would like to say that in general we have performed better this year across the board. Very well done due to the concerted efforts of those involved.

Junior Club As has been the case for a number of years, the junior club is basically self sufficient regarding finance. The income they generate covers the running of the Junior Club. Congratulations to the Junior Committee for their efforts and a special thankyou to Steve Ryder. We should remember the Junior Club is one of the major factors in our future development.

Membership Fees This year we achieved our highest % of membership fees paid. This was I feel due to the concerted efforts of our club registrar Sue Schliebs, and the general support of the club committee and team coaches and managers. I thank everyone for their efforts.

Sponsorship The level of sponsorship this year was greatly appreciated by the club. As is always the case it would be great to have double the sponsorship. However it should be remembered that in today's business climate it is getting harder for companies to be able to justify spending money as it must be a two way relationship. We appreciate the support of all our sponsors this year and in previous years. A special thanks to our major sponsor Gilmore's Hotel Coniston.

Canteen Once again, due to the efforts of a select few ladies (Sue Schliebs, Christine Bruton and Leigh Darby) and Paul Darby, the canteen once again showed a good return. It is a fine line you tread with food, as bad weather on the day can turn profit into a loss. A special thankyou to Christine Bruton, however thankyou all for your efforts. For the future this is an area of the club where mums, wives, girlfriends can become a very important part of the running of the club. Please girls get involved.

General Fund Raising Over the season there have been various raffles as well as the weekly meat raffle on Friday evenings at the Conno. Thankyou to all those involved. This is a hard slog area and really it is a numbers game. If you have the numbers to run raffles on game day and social functions, you can achieve good returns. Like all things in a club, it's numbers.

I would like to thank the committee for their support in enabling me to carry out my role this year. Unfortunately for the first time in my experience as a treasurer for both Junior and Senior clubs and treasurer for North Wollongong Junior Surf Club I had monies stolen from my workplace. That was hard earned money of the members of the club. I apologise for this and it leaves me somewhat saddened to think this could have happened at my workplace.

Finally I must stress the importance of getting more people and new people with different and new ideas involved in the running of the club to build on and carry out the task of providing a solid club for the existing and future players of rugby.

I will not be nominating for Treasurer on the next committee so I send out the challenge for a financial whiz to take the club into the next millennium.

I wish to thank everyone for their help and support over the years of my involvement with both the Juniors and Seniors.

Yours sincerely,

Tony Weckwerth.

Club Manager's Report

The Club has continued to progress this year with a number of positive building blocks being achieved.

Our five-year strategic plan implemented last year is providing the broad vision of where we would like to be in three years time. It could be said we would like to proceed at a faster rate, but limited resources and willing hands are always at a premium when a club is going through a re-building program.

I should say that the Administrators of the club are a dedicated group that do try to cover a vast array of required functions, not only on numerous committee duties, but also on game days. The Illawarra District Rugby Union officials have indicated on more than one occasion that they appreciate the input from our club at both senior and junior levels.

We should be proud of our achievements this year, e.g.

- ⚔ Getting a third grade team back on the playing field was a vital and essential part of our ongoing rugby development.
- ⚔ Having acquired a major sponsor in the Coniston Hotel, not just for one year but hopefully a sustainable long term commitment.
- ⚔ Being recognised by our opposition as providing competitive rugby teams. We sincerely hope and are working towards being not only competitive, but challenging for much higher levels of competition and position on the points ladder.
- ⚔ We are working to our strategic plan, but the committee, coaches and individual always have to keep in mind it's a team effort at all levels that will achieve our ultimate goal of being the premier Rugby Club in the Illawarra.

Our Junior committee, coaches and players are Tech-Waratahs' long term strength as a rugby club, and I congratulate them on their fantastic achievements this year.

To all the senior players in the Club, we know its not easy to continually be told to stick with it, but you, both as individuals and as a team, are at the end of the day the one's that do make the difference, and establish the reputation as a Rugby Club.

We have a club that has all the bases covered. We have a very strong juniors with good and dedicated members looking after them. We have our own grounds and facilities - which are being improved. We have four senior sides that are slowly building year by year, through the efforts of talented younger players staying in the Club (and we sincerely hope this continues) whilst trying to attract other players to help build up the rugby knowledge and skills required to be a rugby force across all grades.

To continue the Club progressing, we need more people to become involved in all the things it takes to administer, work on game days, manage teams, coach and play.

To all those already doing these things, thank you, please keep up the great work and dedication you have shown in the past and "we will achieve great things".

Yours sincerely,

Rick Boyle

Club Captain's Report

Well my fellow Tech-Tahs, I hate to use that old cliché but I think its fair to say it was a year that promised so much but delivered so little.

The first round was our best start to a season in our short history. Unfortunately we failed to reach those heights again throughout the year, yet we did come close on occasions. I know this has been said quite a lot post season, but we are only a couple of quality first graders away from being a highly competitive senior club. Along with some attitude changes from certain individuals (including myself) and this club can strengthen dramatically right across the board and become a real force in the competition in '99'.

There are two types of people in this world, there are the talkers and the doers. Fortunately this year we were blessed with the latter, those who get in their, roll up their sleeves and have a go. I am referring to all the hard work done behind the scenes. Sue Schliebs has done an excellent job collecting fees, many times travelling up from Minnamurra on cold and wet Tuesday and Thursday nights. Sue's harsh line tactics worked wonders and often had grown men running for cover. Sue was also there early on home games to set up and work in the canteen along with Lee Darby, Christine Bruton and everyone else who contributed. Thanks very much ladies, we really appreciate your efforts.

Thanks also to the coaching staff, Rob and Tony, Trevor, Will and Wayno for putting up with us when I know at times you would have felt like giving up after some of our less than committed efforts on the field.

To the strappers, Michelle, Bronwyn, Rick and Ronnie, thanks for ensuring we made it out on to the paddock and keeping up the water to the guys.

I would also like to thank on behalf of all the players Batman Snr, Jeffro Jones for the photos you took week after week at your own expense and distributing to all the guys. I know I speak to all the players in saying thank you very much.

Also thanks to Darbs and Simon for their organising of the Hawaiian Kareoke night, everyone had a ball and we raised a healthy amount of money for young Racquel. Top night guys, well done. When they finish draining my liver, I will send you two the bill. Thank you also to Zlatko for organising the bus trips this year and for once again organising the end of season trip. Zlat managed to tee up a great deal last year for the Melbourne Cup and has done it again this year with Newcastle. However, I am writing this prior to the trip and I think it would be fair to say we are not expecting a mini-bar and colour TV in our rooms.

Steve Power - Mr. 100%!! Thanks for all your efforts Steve, a true Clubman.

To all the players, well another season has passed and provided us with some memorable moments, some not so memorable. If you look up the word 'club' in the dictionary it says a group of people working together to achieve a common goal. That "group" of people means everyone and I think a more united approach off the field (speeches, raffles, social functions, etc.) will only help to create team harmony and spirit which would help to unite us on the field.

Remember, we're not just players for this club, we are members of this club. There is a big difference.

Congratulations to all the players who made rep squads. To Khaled Matar who was runner up for Illawarra player of the year and Phil Gould who again took out the Illawarra U21's player of the year.

Finally I would like to personally thank Japan Airlines for taking the Pommies back to the old dart. Wylie and I are saving a fortune on groceries now that Westy and Kennel aren't grazing through the cupboards, its "Mega" as Toby would say.

Enjoy the off season, don't loose your reason and we'll see you in the gym!

Yours in rugby,

The Bat.

Club Coach's Report

Another season has drawn to a close and yet again we are left to reflect on a season of mixed results and a failure to meet our stated objectives. This is some cause for concern and obviates the need to further evolve a winning approach from the boardroom to the playing field. I believe the club is at a crossroads and without significant changes in personnel and preparation we may be doomed to an existence as a 'social rugby club', somewhat anathema to the clubs proud traditions.

I certainly don't want to be overly pessimistic about the clubs position as we have a very talented group of young players progressing through the clubs ranks and also representing in various teams. Our challenge is to provide these players with a competitive 1st grade team to play in so that their development is enhanced as much as possible by the playing and training environment we provide.

I've always said to the players that if we keep on doing things the same way we'll keep on getting the same results so change is essential if the results are not acceptable. This will involve a rethink of coaching strategies and an improvement in training effort on the part of the players. I would encourage all players to commence off season endurance and strength development programmes right away. I can promise all players that I have already radically re-thought my approach to training and I would strongly advise all players to arrive at pre-season training fit enough to cope with the work you will be asked to do.

I would like to thank Tony and the rest of the coaching staff for all their efforts throughout the season. Thanks also to our strapping and training staff who do a fantastic job for the club as so all the people working behind the scenes. There is no doubt that we have a terrific infrastructure of people and facilities.

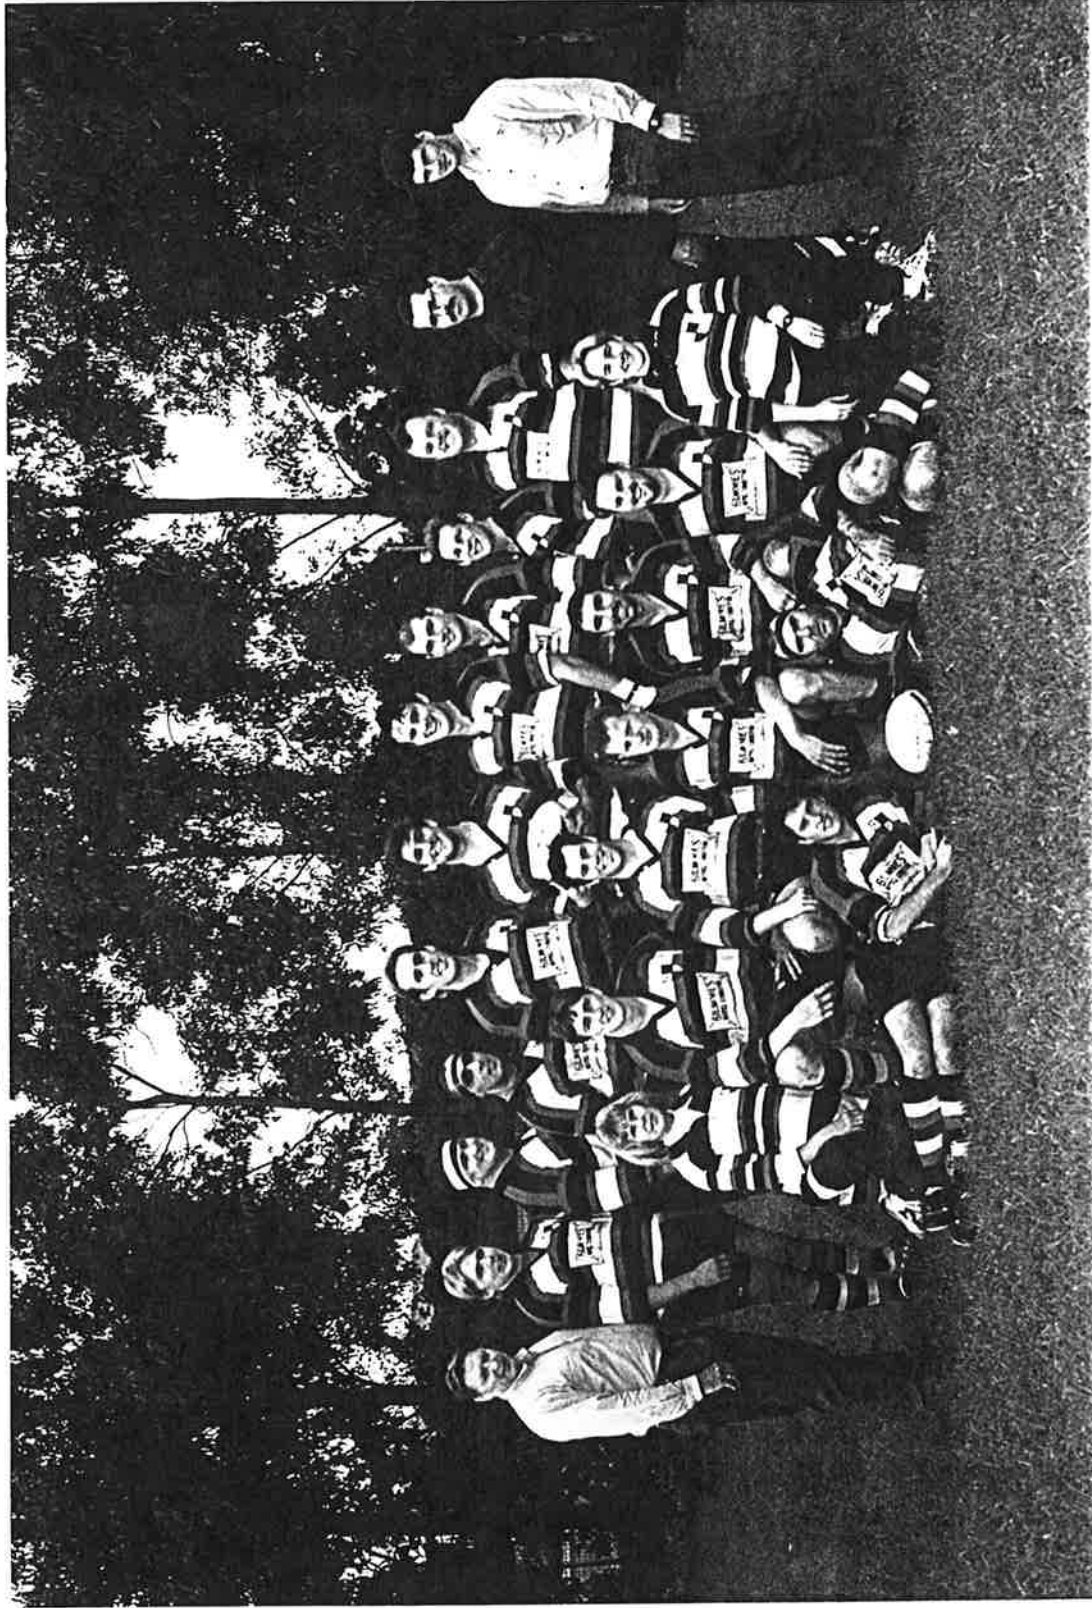

Finally I would encourage our sponsors and supporters to stand steadfast, keep the faith and watch us continue to develop into a legitimate contender for the title.

Yours in rugby,

Robert Steward.

1st Grade Report

The 1998 season has been up and down, with the high points being few and far between. We started on a high, with Kiama 7's, making the last 16 which was fantastic. The team that played in the 7's was young, enthusiastic and full of life. Batemans Bay was another good day where with a mixture of Under 19's, 3rd's, 2nd's and 1st's (AND Will Madden) made the semi-finals.

The first game of the season was Wollongong, which we won, giving us a great start to the season. Kiama was our next win and in both games, all players were playing to potential. Shoalhaven at home was one of the lowest points in the season, the players having a disappointing game, not combining and using their already proven abilities. Losing to Shamrocks 75-5 was also not a true reflection of their ability, but was a reflection on the general feeling when playing against Shamrocks. This feeling is something we must learn to conquer. Finishing the season playing top teams in the district, i.e. Campbelltown & Camden, the team looked more like a side that should be playing in the semi's, not bottom of the table. This comment has also been made through the season by both refs and other coaches.

Several younger players made 1st grade debuts this year, and proved themselves to be 1st grade players of the future. These included Chris Foye, Cameron Peace, Darren O'Shea, Reece Wilson, Craig Franklin and Matt Franklin. Matt played consistently well in the matches he played. Ben Olsen, Lee Martin and Josh Darby, who all debuted last season, have developed into true 1st grade players. The side was strengthened by the return of Julian Payne and Matt Fisher, combined with the experience of Mark O'Shea, Stuey Pearson, Frogger and later in the season Harry Hawksworth and Richard West.

David Tully and HK showed marked improvement from last season. Phil Gould and Khaled Matar were outstanding throughout the season with Phil's greatest ever try being scored in 'cuckoo-land'. Congrats to both players on their Illawarra awards, Khaled for 2nd best player in the district and Phil for best U21. Congrats to Zlatko on entry into 1st grade and giving 100% in every game. Thanks go to Nigel Darby for playing nearly every position in the backs - watch out Frogger, Nigel's on his way!

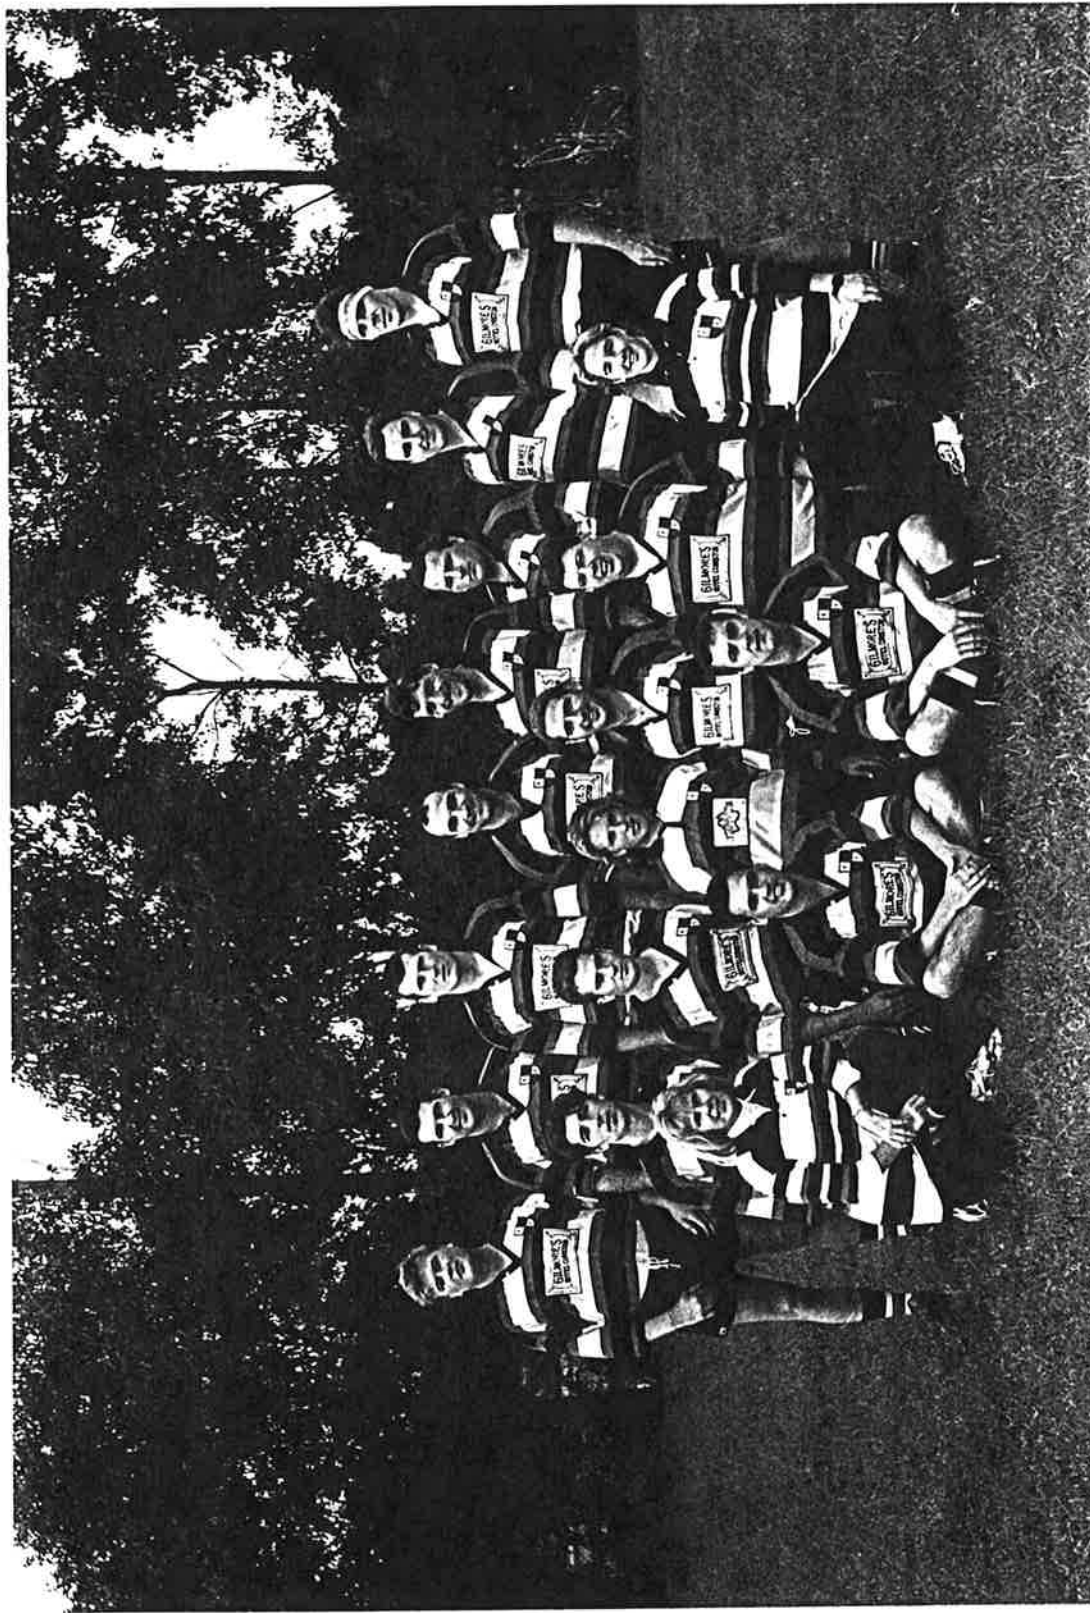

Rod Petty was a credit to the Club, making the Australian U19 test team. We were sorry to lose him half way through the season to Randwick, but wish him every success in the future. Now that Rugby Union has become a professional game, we as 1st grade players and coaches must be more professional in our approach to playing, training and in our attitudes to the game, the referees and each other.

I would like to thank my co-coach Rob Steward, who has made the forwards really tick this year. Also thanks to Trevor Cowell, Will Madden (pain), and Wayne Ireland for their help and support throughout the season (thanks for their players too). The Club would not be a club without hard work of the committee - thanks everyone. Thanks also go to Michele, Bronwyn, Rick, Ron, Darb's, the ladies in the canteen and all the young fellows who help run the water, all of whom have made my job easier. Lets hope 1999 will be a great year for Tech-Tahs.

Yours sincerely,
Tony Leeder-Smith

2nd Grade Report

1998 saw the return of myself into the coaching ranks after a few seasons absence. Unfortunately, I did not commence the 2nd grade role until halfway into the season, but in that short time I enjoyed myself working with the boys. It was disappointing that the 2nd grade team didn't get the results that their efforts warranted with the amount of talent in the side.

This situation is rectified with improvement in a couple of areas. Numbers to training has to be consistently increased so that the team is able to train together and be able to work out some combinations on a regular basis. Player commitment needs to be improved in all facets of the game - training, club duties, punctuality, skills and fitness. If a bunch of players are able to lift in these areas together over a period of time, winning will be a right, not a privilege. Of course it is up to you, the players to make a conscious decision together and to do this and enforce it in one another.

Discipline at training needs to be worked on. I'm a great believer that if you are disciplined at training during the week, then you will be disciplined during the game, thereby not putting yourself under pressure, and increasing your chance of victory!!

In finishing, I hope all the boys from season 1998 will be backing up again in season 1999 as a successful season is not far away if the points are taken aboard. Tech-Waratahs is only two or three players short of a very successful club, so I want to see all the existing talent sharing in the good times soon to be had.

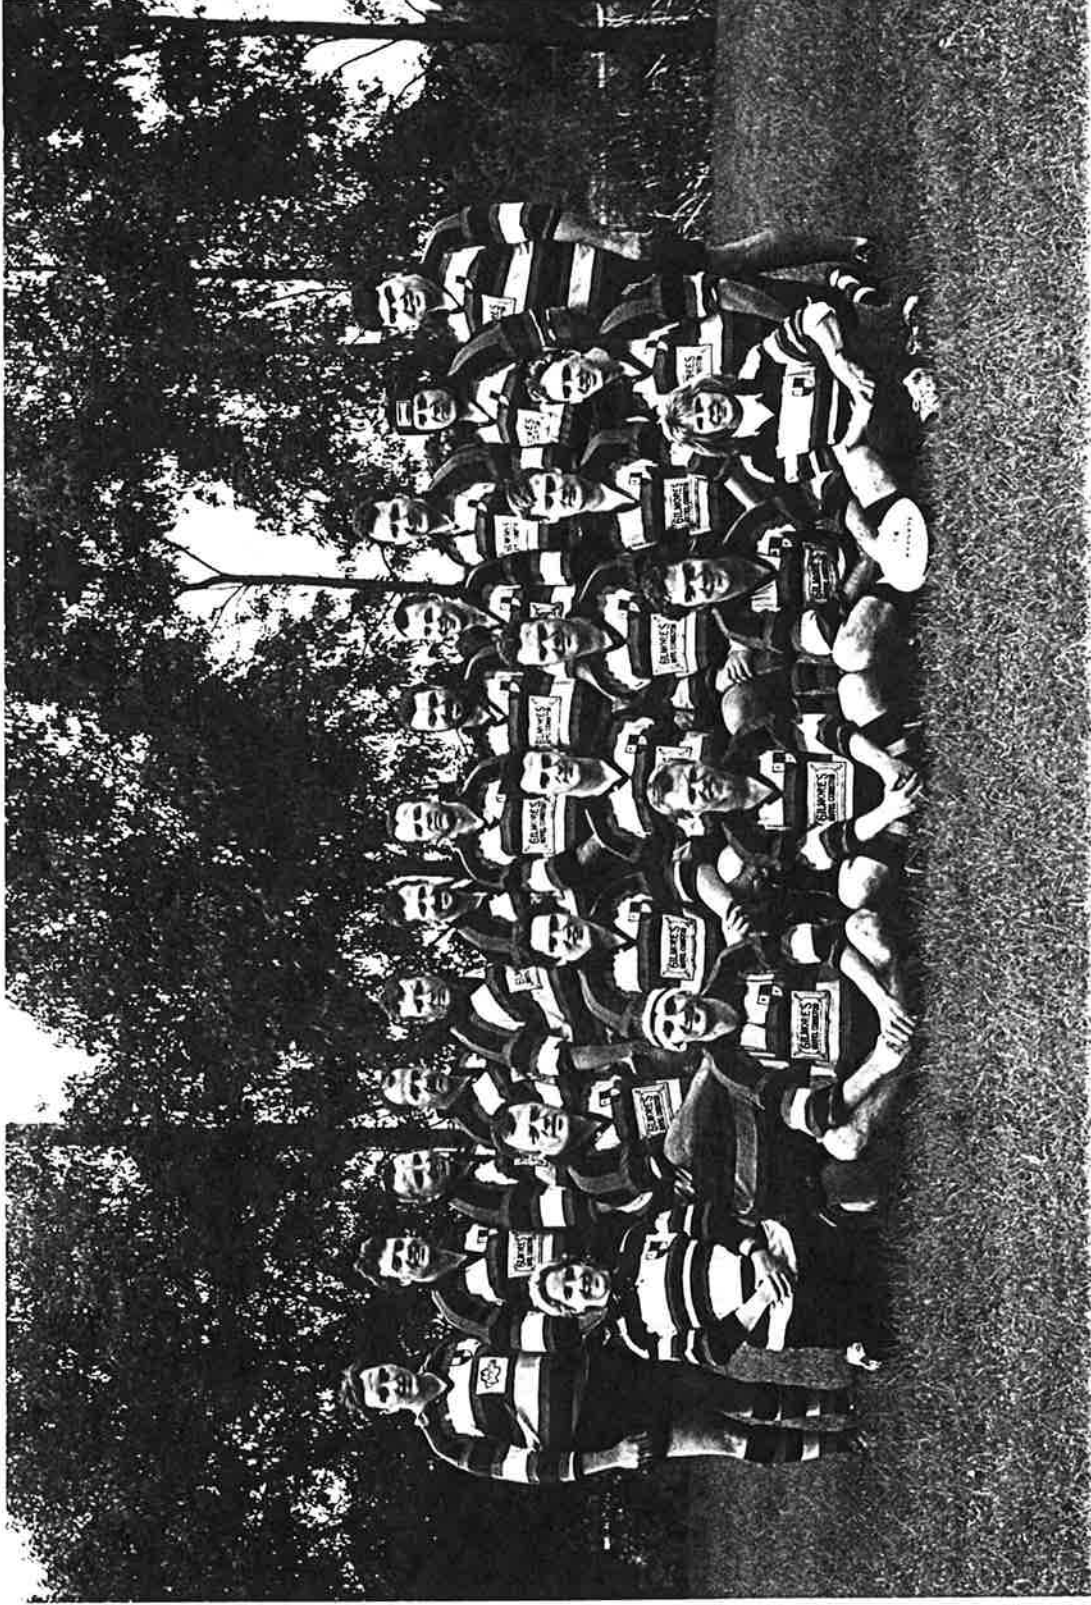

I'm looking forward to next year and being a part of the coaching staff.

Yours in anticipation,

Trevor Cowell.

3rd Grade Report

The Psyche Up

We've warmed up and stretched and are back in the sheds
We push close the door and start to bang heads
We yell and we chant and get the blood boiling
We pump up the knees and think about spoiling
We thump our chests hard - "lets give Shammies a pissing!!"
Then we turn to go out.....and the door handles missing.

Farken Haha.

First and most importantly I would like to say thank you to every player who either passed through 'The Nursery' on their way to greater heights or who became a permanent fixture there. The job of coordinating third grade each week was also made easier because of each player making his situation known and his intentions clear.

I saw the development of 3rds this year always as a collaborative effort. (Special thanks to Smithy, Ronnie Wessel, Les Porter and Mick 'You're the coach' Honeysett for input and support). Youthful exuberance combined with some more seasoned reasoners and I think the many close results show we were always very competitive. The commitment was genuine and never seeing a 3rd grader take a backward step or give up was something to be proud of and a facet of their game that stood out each week. And thanks to those Under 19's who backed up on quite a few occasions and showed how it's done - (see Chris Foye-Campbelltown : see Readie-can't get enough).

It was very pleasing to see players make the natural progression up to 2nd grade, whether for a short stint or for the season. Including: Rob 'now that's a haircut' Sindevski, Kristian 'K-man' Evans, Luke 'my girls a hooker' Thompson, Mark 'my words' Brown, Darryl 'Welcome to the' Parrish and Scott 'I need a new' Taylor. All credit to them and I hope they keep progressing.

A good third grade needs some unique individuals and we have a few. I jotted a few things down about some players. These are in random fashion with no real sense of order - so it is consistent with my coaching technique.

- |                  |   |
|------------------|---|
| Mick Merrick     | AKA 'Fenders', 'Merrick the Mauler', 'The Crank'. Been in more Positions than Tawny Peaks. Aply handled every one but definitely relishes the immediate forwards clash. Rammed coach's car at Camden so bugger him - will prop next year! |
| Damien George    | Pre-match sausage rolls are this mans version of the Proton Pill (Not a member of the NRMA just yet - see Maughny).   |
| Robert Sindevski | AKA "The Maco Meat Axe", "The Sin", "#4 Comb". Brilliant debut into Gpd's game against an in form Shamrocks. Runs, steps, tackles and jumps then leave s her in the morning to play rugby.  |
| Tony Gorgeovski  | His commitments as Professional Mosh Pit Diver at Waves have clashed with training some nights.   |
| Mick Honeyshett  | AKA "Maverick". Recovered from rib transplant to force his way back to the side of the pack. However, doctors accidentally used cow ribs and Mick has a tendency now when packing in to drop to all fours and chew grass.                 |
| Shane Jackson    | Go you good thing. Jacko some of your play has left us ...speechless. Saved the best till last, against Camden.   |

Steve Matteson	AKA "Matterhorn". Rock like defence. Comet-like speed (that's enough of that or you'll end up in 2nds).
Barry McVicar	Still putting young guns to shame. BaigMac cops most injuries from Pam when he admits he played again.
John Maughan	AKA "Maughny", "NRMA". Bored at wing but soared at breakaway. Extremely quick to the breakdown.
Peter O'Neill	Snoz made "that tackle" against Shamrocks first round then decided to quit whilst ahead. Constantly looking for a fellow Resch's Pilsener drinker.
Mark O'Shea	Very consistent book-end. Considered donating body to science but ears are still evolving. Weight training includes lifting small buses for tyre changing etc. Believes God invented beer to stop props taking over the world.
Adam Mayberry	Behind the mild mannered jam jars here's a man who will wear his undies on the outside when necessary.
Shane McVicar	Son of Mac took years off until a 3 rd grade number 8 jumper was vacant. Still worried about line-outs though as last time he was grabbed around the pants by two blokes he was in Long Bay.
Mark Johnston	AKA "Splinter", "10 Minutes". Lost fight against piece of balsa wood during exhibition.
Paul Carrigan	AKA 'The Puttyman', 'No More Gaps'. Will place his head anywhere to fill a gap in the tight five. Came off the bench after nine years and scared everything, especially his legs.
Kristian Evans	Only by name, not by nature - likes to torture the opposition. Likes to torture moths and flies too so we may have a problem here. Happiest moment besides scoring at Kiama was to lose job on purpose so he could make training nights.
Mark Brown	AKA 'Stain', 'Skiddy'. Brownie is so fast he can turn off the lights and be in bed before the room's dark.
Darren Nichols	One of the three amigo's who appeared at Bowral. Darren often heard saying, "Parso, here, hold this mine up, I've gotta play rugby - be back in an hour."

Neil Parsons	Parso has kept a low profile since starring at Bowral but is often heard saying "Darren, get back here you bastard!!"
Gordon 'Hurry'	Often heard said by Mrs Hurry when the kids are away for the day. Good front rowers are hard to find and hard front rowers are good to find.
Frank Dietrich	AKA 'Marlene', 'Texas Mits'. Safe as houses under the high ball and can put a finger in both ears with one hand.
Bob Porter	Supersub will return in 1999 bigger and badder. Secret training program is... a secret
Michael Strudwick	AKA 'Sedgewick', 'Stomper', 'Kate Moss'. Struddy has shed some ballast to help his modelling career (I think he is a foot model) but it has also allowed the ex-prop to become more mobile at 4 or 5. He also uses video tapes to tune the finer points of his game, ie. Ali v Spinks, Tyson v Burbank, Marciano v Allcot, etc.
Brett Ramsay	AKA 'Rammo', 'Blonde Justice'. The chip and chase master captained the ship most of the season. Played important role in policing Friday night curfew by visiting all drinking holes to make sure all players were home...by 4am. Probably did not make Bowral Boxing squad.
Steve Power	AKA 'The Enforcer'. Started to realise his own potential this season and showed that a rugby beast lies under that cool, calm exterior.
Paul Darby	Finished season over the top of Vikings before opting for surgery due to Rugby Elbow. Doctors reports reveal however that a large slab of muscle was removed from arm but not discarded. We wondered where it went. Only two things to go on. 1) Darbs now counts by stamping his foot, and 2) Mrs Darbs has a big smile on her face all the time.
Scott Taylor	Plucked from the Nursery early. Steady fullback and like Mal Colston's belt buckle, good under pressure.
Luke Thompson	New to the game but endured baptism at Kiama with great flourish. Never been stepped since Shamrocks game - yes saw it. When drunk, mumbles things about some bloke called Yoga, a princess Leah and some Fair Evader. Wants to show his Light Sabre to everyone but never had a taker.

- Andrew Todd      Toddy never let rugby get in the way of a decent scrap. Not sure he's read the Marques de Queensbury Rule book yet.
- Les Porter      Workhorse whose versatility and voracious nature is a huge asset to the side. Really only 25, Les had his birth certificate doctored so he could get into pubs at an early age. Favourite movie: Cliffhanger, Favourite Book: Wuthering Heights, Favourite Album: Off the Wall.
- Ron Wessel      The other book end who played some inspiring rugby this season whilst hitting a half century. Often referred to as T-Rex as he's the big daddy of our own 'Jurassic Park'.

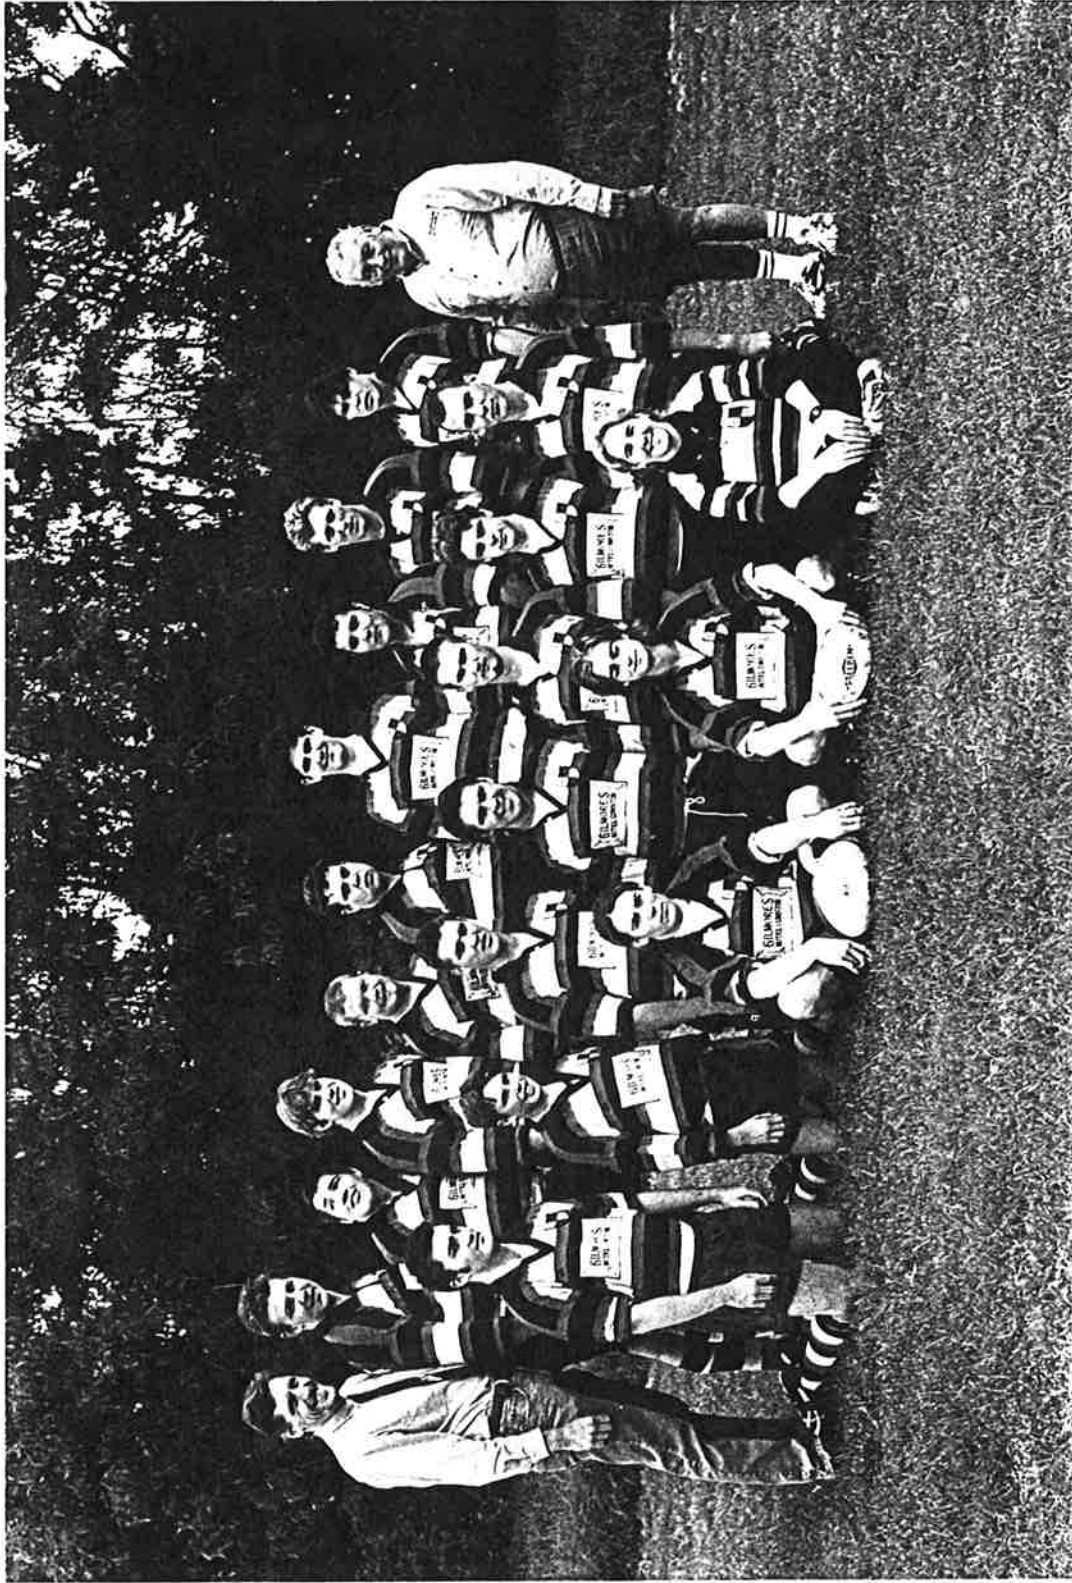

So, all of you Thirstys, keep your fitness, hit the gym, keep your eyes out for any prospects for the next season and keep in touch. Remember how good the wins felt.

Yours in Rugby,

Will Madden

Under 19's 1998

Back Row: Wayne Ireland (Coach), Daniel Hodge, Matthew Crimmins, Chris Foye, Daniel Read, Steven Frederici, Tim Ryder, Peter Ernst, Tim Day, Peter Delaney, Richard Ireland (Manager)

Middle Row: Mitchell O'Dwyer, Luke Darby, Trent Williams, Cameron Ogden, Andrew McCall, Brendan Atkinson, Frank Deitrich

Under 19's Report

The 1998 season, although disappointing towards the end, was overall a reasonable one. It all ended at Vikings in the minor semi-final when we were eliminated by Camden 17-7.

After a slow start to the season, we improved greatly in the second round to finish fourth after the premiership rounds. Those who witnessed our minor elimination semi against Campbelltown would agree that it was the most entertaining game seen in a while.

I must now thank the many people who contributed to the season. To 'CammyO' who lead the side superbly week in, week out, thank you. To all the guys who packed down in the front row (Fatty, Danny, Stevie, Ernsty, Crimmo, Hodgey, Robbo and Wecky), great work. To the 'Mouse' Luke Darby and Wayne Bruton, regular members of the side all year as well as playing Under 17's, also to the other Under 17's who backed up whenever needed (Tim Olsen, Robbie Allen and Tim Ryder), thank you for the commitment. To Marty Schliebs for playing when available. To Ben, Josh and Lee for adding experience towards the end. To my manager Richard Ireland, I thank you for your help. Unfortunately ill health laid him low towards the end of the season. To Rick Boyle, who took over and lightened the load. To Ronnie, Michelle and Bronwyn for getting the guys on the paddock, and to Tony for his help and support through the finals. To the small band of grade players who followed the lads all season, I know the side appreciated having you cheer them on from the sidelines.

In finalising, with most of the guys indicating they will be returning next year, all looks well for the 1999 season.

Yours in anticipation,

Wayne Ireland.

Junior Club Report

Being elected president for this year game me a personal thrill, and the position has been a hard one to fill. Taking over from the previous President Phil Garde is a hard act to follow, he being very successful in all aspects of the Club's activities.

For me the task is straight forward - to promote Junior Rugby and our great club. Being an old Tech player and a great lover of Rugby makes the job at hand easier.

This year we had a great bunch of guys on the Committee, being Barry Pike, John Burgess, Phil Allen, Steve Ryder, Paul Darby, Christine Bruton and Ronnie Wessel. All are very keen to see the Club progress progress to new heights.

Let's not forget the coaches. All our coaches this year are qualified, three of them still playing grade rugby. Under 11's being my own team and assisted by Murray Tolhopf, Under 13's with Mick Peckman doing a great job, helped by Andrew Todd. Under 15's with crafty Mark Johnston plus John Ryder, and Under 17's with Jason Crimmins, a very astute coach, helped by Matt Fisher.

We have great talent in all age groups, plus we have had good success in gaining numbers in the Under 11's and Under 13's through the 10-a-side knockout. The Under 13's began the season with only three players, they finished with seventeen players and were a very competitive side. Good work players and coach.

The representative area of the game has not passed us by either with all our age groups having reps in the Illawarra teams, plus some in the NSW Country teams. I'm sure it's the good club coaching that gout four of the Under 11's into the Illawarra team, not that I'm biased!

The Under 15's did very well, although they unfortunately got knocked out in the semi's. Next year this will not happen and we're confident these guys can take out the premiership in 1999. Mark Johnston is a very clever coach, straight with the lads, and knows the game inside out.

A big thanks goes to our canteen staff, Christine, Julie and Margo. They are always in attendance and do a great job. In fact they must have the world record for selling meat pies on a Sunday by now.

To all the parents, thank you so much for your support in 1998. Your attendance has been great and all help much appreciated.

I hope to see you all next year for the 1999 season to enjoy more success and friendship throughout Tech-Waratahs Rugby Club.

Yours in rugby,

Mick Honeysett
President of Junior Club.

Junior Registrars Report

The 1998 season has been a great one for growth in player numbers. At the start of last season we had only two teams, Under 15's and Under 17's. So, Grandad (Ronnie Wessel) came to the rescue and took some of the senior players along for moral support, and went out into a few of the local primary schools. They dragged a group of 10 year olds along to a training session, bribed them with chips and Mar's bars and convinced them to play their first game as a team. With only six players it was tough, but they must have enjoyed themselves because they kept turning up at training, bringing along their mates!

Starting off this year we only had six players for the Under 15's and two for the Under 13's. This has grown enormously to a total of eighty players in the club at present, all teams with reserves, including a massive twenty-five players listed in the Under 15's.

Present team sizes are:

Under 11's	19 players
Under 13's	17 players
Under 15's	25 players
Under 17's	19 players

It must be said that half a team is supplied by only two families - the Charleston family (4 players) and the Hurst family (3 players). They obviously couldn't resist the bulk discount on fees!!

A first for the Club this year - a female player, Emma Charleston in the Under 11's, going well and obviously has played before in the backyard with her brothers.

What has been great to see in 1998 was that a big increase in the Under 15's numbers was through players returning to the Club after leaving the game for a year or two. Welcome back Gaspo, Laurie and Michael Gray, AND they brought their mates with them!! It is obvious that there are a quite a few converts to Rugby from this group. We hope this trend of encouraging your mates to try rugby continues for the 1999 season, as from next year there is a new age group, an Under 14's, plus the existing ones. This will make the transition from Under 13's not such a large step, but naturally we will need more numbers.

To those of you who transferred over to this club from the Wombats rather than go elsewhere, we hope you are happy with your decision. From our point of view, you players have fitted in very well and have brought a lot of talent with you.

To all those players and parents new to this club, we thank you for giving us a go and hope that you stick around in future years.

See you bigger and better in '99,

Barry Pike.

Tech-Tah Tall Stories of 1998

 Most injury prone player: Without a doubt it has to be Reece Wilson. Was there a training session where Reece didn't hobble off the paddock after doing a couple of warm up laps?

 Surprise surprise!!

After a heavy Sunday night on the turps, Westy left Wylie and Bat with a present they wouldn't forget in a hurry. Stumbling back to Wylie and Bat's joint from The Harp, Westy crashed on the floor as usual and very early on Monday morning he spewed on the carpet. In his hazy state he reasoned the best option to cleaning up the mess was to go back to his place, get the necessary cleaning equipment and then go back to the scene of the crime and erase all the evidence before Bat and Wylz got up for work. Unfortunately for Westy he fell asleep at his place. Walking through the lounge room about to get breakfast, Wylz was horrified when he saw Westy's parked tiger seeping into the carpet and no sign of Westy!!

Excuses excuses

Speaking of Wylz, he definitely came up with the most imaginative excuse in 1998. It was Eridge Park, Bowral, and player numbers aren't exactly flush. After being asked if he was playing 2nd's, Wylie turned round and mildly spluttered, "Mate, I'm too sick to play!" whilst calmly finishing off his can of VB.

Rambo by name, Rambo by nature

After giving one of the Bowral 3rd graders a bit of a touch up in one of the rucks, Rambo copped a king hit from one of the Bowral props in retaliation, which forced the rugged half back from the field nursing a very sore jaw. While making his way to the sideline, the Bowral spectators were getting right up Rambo, telling him that he'd never do that again. To which Rambo replied, "Bullshit, I do it every week mate."

 Romper Stomper

The Hawaiian Kareoke night will not be forgotten for a long time, especially for one high ranking Tech-Tah official. What a great night it was!! The beer was flowing, the music was rocking and you could hear Sue Schlieb's singing half way down Gladstone Ave. Well it obviously wasn't enough to keep Wayne awake because he was out like a light by 11pm. Big mistake, especially when there's a pair of clippers in the vicinity of drunk rugby players. In his comatosed condition, Wayne didn't even flinch while his hair was being shaved off and I wish I'd seen his face in the mirror the next morning when he realised that Kojak could be a relation of his.

 Jekyl and Hide

Mild mannered 3rd Grade Captain/Coach and father of three Will Madden really turned back the clock to his wild youth earlier in the season when he got kicked out of The Harp for being drunk and disorderly. Will delivered one of the great displays of shadow boxing to the bouncers before he quietly deserted the scene in a taxi.

Honesty is the best policy?

After a game against Kiama, Rick Boyle noticed Paul Darby with a ball in his hands. "Hey Darbs, have we got our name on that ball mate?", Boyley shouted, to which Paul replied, "Yeah, wait up, I've just got to get Kiama's name off it first".

It's a dog's life:

After his first night on the grog in Australia with his new teammates, Toby Harling couldn't hack the pace and managed to get back to Tony and Michelle Leeder-Smith's place, where he and Westy were staying. Not wanting to wake Tony and Michelle up and somehow not having a house key on him, Tobes decided the only place left to have a kip was in the dog kennel. Hence the nickname 'Kennel'. Super effort that!! Makes a change from the gutter where most Aussie's end up.

Gouldy the Brave:

After making the intelligent decision to headbutt the knee of a Shamrock forward, not surprisingly our gallant 1st Grade Captain came off second best. After being dragged reluctantly from the field, Phil's fiance Alison asked him if he was feeling okay. "Yeah I'm right love, don't worry about me", said Phil. "Alright then, take it easy", replied Alison. Twenty seconds later, Phil had a puzzled look on his face as he turned to Alison and asked, "Are we engaged?" "Okay big guy, lets get straight to the hospital!" was the reply.

Feeling lucky punk?

Looks like Stevie Power got a bit of mongrel about him in season '98. After throwing a few against Vikings, Stevo again had to put into practice what he had learnt, when one night some feral came up to him and asked him for his wallet. After politely declining this request, the feral again asked Stevo for his wallet. Two punches and Steve was quickly looking for a cab to disappear from the scene. You have been warned, this fella doesn't muck about.

Smart arse

Mark O'Shea and Paul Darby were at Vikings watching Shammies play Camden in the finals when Shammies PR man John Pink wandererd over to them handing out Shamrock Newsletter's. "Want one of these boys?" Pinky asked, "Yeah", replied Mark, "I've been busting for a shit for ages". Needless to say, the newsletter was quickly back in Pinky's hand.

Shy guy

A few of the young blokes from the club, namely Benny Olsen, Rod Petty and Chris Foye, went down to the North Gong early in the season on a Friday lunchtime for a look at the strippers. Well, the boys were in amongst the crowd trying to get a look at the action when Ben looked for Chris. He looked all around the place but no Fatty. Well, he thought nothing of it and continued to perve away. Anyway, the show finishes, the boys are all wide eyed at what they had just witnessed and waited around for Chris. Not long afterwards, Chris reappears holding a Nintendo game in his hand. "Where the hell have you been", the boys demanded. "I went to get a game. I don't like to watch" was Fatty's response. Fatty, you're the ultimate SNAG my friend.

Benchwarmer:

Now young Cammy O hates to be a benchwarmer where footy is concerned, but from the story I've heard regarding a particular night at the Beach Bar, he was more than happy to be sitting on the bench opposite the establishment. I don't think I can go into details as this is a family edition but by all accounts he and a young lady were putting on quite a show for the patrons inside the Beachy looking through the windows.

Wonderful Wollongong: I'm sure it's only coincidence, but does anyone know why Wayno has numberplates that read 'W1'!!

Casanova a'la Davis: Everyone at Tech-Waratahs knows how much of a lady killer Frogger is, his ability to pull the biggest chicks in the district is legendary. Well, at Dicey Reilly's a few weeks ago the Frogman rose to spectacular heights in his efforts to impress a young lady. Truth has it that after a couple of lagers during the afternoon he walked upto a lady at the bar, confidently leaned against it (as you do), gazed into her eyes with those piercing blue eyes of his that have melted many a heart from Coledale to Kiama, and with all the subtlety of a jack hammer blurted out, "Come on, we're going home now"!! Unfortunately for him, the young lady in question was not overly impressed and aggressively replied, "F@#k off"!!

Virtual Reality

Does HK exist in the here and now or is he just biding time on earth until space travel is a reality for the common man. After producing a couple of pearler quotes a couple of years ago at Tech-Tah Terrace regarding a cricket game on TV, H recently managed to give us a couple more of a high standard. While travelling on the bus to Newcastle for the trip away, our Manpower Australia understudy commented to Khaled as the boys were travelling through Homebush, "Ah, I see we've travelling south then"! Just to be consistent, while in a pub in Newcastle watching the election results being counted, H casually asked one of the boys, "So this Beazley fella, which party does he represent"? Just to conclude with HK, is his hero Warwick Capper or does he just walk around in his undies? Many a time on the trip away, the boys were wandering if he was actually wearing any shorts under his T-shirt.

Shooting Backwards

Who'd wanna be six foot ten like Craig Franklin? He might be able to dunk on the basketball court or pluck rugby balls from the sky in the lineouts, but it didn't help him much when he had to go to the toilet on the bus during the trip away to Newcastle. Everyone else who needed to relieve themselves had to kneel down at the door while aiming for the funnel but due to his size, Craig had to squat and push the jewels through his legs and piss backwards. If someone had taken a twister board along, Craig would've been undefeated!!

Bat's Diary of Disaster

OPS OPSM Sponsorship

Calmly driving through town one day with Zlatko in Zlat's car, Dingbat pointed up ahead and remarked, "Hey Zlat, how good is that sort!!" "Dunno, let's get closer and have a look", replied Zlatko. Once the object of their desire was in close range, Bat put his head in his hands and cried out, "Ah shit no, it's a bloke in bike pants!!!".

$\Psi$ Unlucky in love:

Another pearler from the Bat. It's first date time and the big fella has got a romantic dinner planned at the Beach House to impress the young lady. So far so good, Bat's going to play it real smooth and show that he is the suave and sophisticated type. Unfortunately the evening didn't quite go as planned and Bat gets so shitfaced, he starts calling his date by another name. To add insult to injury, he gets beat 3-0 in pool by the young lady. Tom Cruise he is not.

Assman

It was early on in the season and Batman hadn't quite got rid of the bulk that a rigorous off season training campaign at The Conno had given him. Anyway, it was fairly late in the evening on game day, and as expected a couple of beers had been downed by the lads. Bat was looking slick in his suit pants, but what he didn't bank on was bending over and ripping his pants right up the back. It was pretty hot that evening in the cauldron that is the Conno, so Bat adjourned to the dunny to cool off. On his return, Bat displayed his undies in his hands, meaning he was 'free willy' under his pants. The exhibitionist in Justin then rose to the surface as he revelled in bending over while playing pool in front of the ladies present. All good things must come to an end and this cheeky spectacle was brought to an abrupt halt when Kristian leant over and put out his cigarette on Justin's ass. Now if only he could move that quickly on the paddock!!!

$\eta$ Just pulling ya leg mate:

It was late on a Sunday night, and after a rather torrid house warming party at Luke Thompson and Luke Mayberry's place, Khaled had to take Bronwyn to casualty for a mishap that had happened involving a sliding door. As Khaled was driving, and no-one had any money for taxi's, Khaled had Bat, Wayne and Kristian in the van as well. Everyone piled out into the casualty reception area to check out exactly what was happening. As expected, they were all told to take a seat by Matty Fisher and wait their turn. Dingbat found a seat, and proceeded to spreadeagle himself over a whole row of them, promptly falling into a drunken stupor. The minutes ticked by and after Bronwyn had been attended to, Khaled went over and woke Dingbat. "Where are we, what are we doing" said a startled Batman. "We're in casualty mate, you've badly lacerated your leg. You're going to be okay but you've got to keep it straight at all times", replied Khaled in his most concerned voice. "Oh..., okay then, no worries", replied Bat with a worried look on his face. He then grabbed at his leg, straightened it out and shakily stood up from the seat. Bat then hobbled across the floor for a few metres, gritting his teeth and maintaining to keep that crook leg straight. He then looked up and saw Bronwyn staring at him, shaking her head. “What are you looking at”, he bellowed at Bronwyn, while at that same moment remembering that they were there because of her accident and that his leg was really 100%. Now that’s what I call a legend!!!!

Just Jokes!!

Two rugby players (Sime and Darbs) are seated either side of a table in a rough pub (Bellambi Hotel) when a well-dressed man enters, orders a beer and sits on a stool at the bar. The two rugby players start to speculate about the occupation of the suit.

Darbs: -I reckon he's an accountant.

Sime: -No way - he's a stockbroker.

Darbs: -He ain't no stockbroker! A stockbroker wouldn't come in here!

The argument repeats itself for some time until the volume of beer gets the better of Darbs and he makes for the toilet. On entering the toilet he sees that the suit is standing at a urinal. Curiosity and several beers get the better of the rugby player...

Darbs: - 'scuse me.... no offence meant, but me and me mate were wondering what you do for a living?

Suit: -No offence taken! I'm a Logical Scientist by profession!

Darbs: -Oh! What's that then?

Suit: -I'll try to explain by example... Do you have a goldfish at home?

Darbs: -Er...mmm... well yeah, I do as it happens!

Suit: -Well, it's logical to follow that you keep it in a bowl or in pond. Which is it?

Darbs: -It's in a pond!

Suit: -Well then it's reasonable to suppose that you have a large garden then?

Darbs: -As it happens, yes I have got a big garden!

Suit: -Well then it's logical to assume that in this town, if you have a large garden, you have a large house?

Darbs: -As it happens I've got a five bedroom house... built it myself!

Suit: -Well given that you've built a five bedroom house, it is logical to assume that you haven't built it just for yourself and that you are quite probably married?

Darbs: -Yes I am married, I live with my wife and five children!

Suit: -Well then it is logical to assume that you are sexually active with your wife on a regular basis?

Darbs: -Yep! Four nights a week!

Suit: -Well then it is logical to suggest that you do not masturbate very often?

Darbs: -Me? Never

Suit: -Well there you are! That's logical science at work!

Darbs: -How's that then?

Suit: -Well from finding out that you had a goldfish, I've told you about the size of garden you have, the size of house, your family and your sex life!

Darbs: -I see! That's pretty impressive... thanks mate!

Both leave the toilet and Darbs returns to his mate.

Sime: -I see the suit was in there. Did you ask him what he does?

Darbs: -Yep! He's a logical scientist!

Sime: -What's that then?

Darbs: -I'll try and explain. Do you have a goldfish?

Sime: -Nope

Darbs: -Well then, you're a wanker.

A rugby referee (Peter Woods) died and went to heaven. Stopped by St Peter at the gates he was told that only brave people who had performed heroic deeds and had the courage of their convictions could enter. If the ref could describe a situation in his life where he had shown these characteristics, he would be allowed in.

"Well," said the ref, "I was reffing a game between Tech-Waratahs and Vikings at Saunders Oval. Tech-Waratahs were 2 points ahead, 1 minute to go. The Vikings wing made a break, passed inside to the lock. The lock was driven on by his forwards, passed out to the flanker who ducked blind and went over in the corner. However, the flanker dropped the ball before he could ground it, and being an old Vikings player, I ruled that he had dropped the ball down, not forward, and awarded the try."

"OK, that was fairly brave of you, but I will have to check it in the book." says Peter, and disappears to look it up. When he comes back he says "Sorry, there is no record of this. Can you help me to trace it? When did all this happen?"
The ref looked at his watch and replied "45 seconds ago."

A kilted Scotsman, Wylie Pearson, was walking down a country path after finishing off a considerable amount of whisky at a local pub. As he staggered down the road, he felt quite sleepy and decided to take a nap, with his back against a tree. As he slept, two young English lasses walked down the road and heard Wylie snoring loudly. They saw him, and one said, "I've always wondered what a Scotsman wears under his kilt."

She boldly walked over to the sleeping man, raised his kilt, and saw what nature had provided him at his birth. Her friend said, "Well, he has solved a great mystery for us, now! He must be rewarded!" So, she took a blue ribbon from her hair, and gently tied it around what nature had provided the Scotsman, and the two walked away.

Some time later, Wylie was awakened by the call of nature, and walked around to the other side of the tree to relieve himself. He raised his kilt...and saw where the blue ribbon was tied. After several moments of bewilderment, Wylie said...

"I dinna know where y'been lad...but it's nice ta'know y'won first prize!"

A few words from the boys...

Hey Payne factor, have you grown since High School?

Must be a hooker thing, cause I love fat chicks as well.

To my Tech-Tah cousins 'BennyO' and 'CammyO', have a go ya mugs!!

Just quietly, I'm a big Marland fan!

Hey Olsen, piss off back to the back row. You have to have coordination to play in the centres!!

Playing for the Wallabies is cool, but I'd rather be a Tech-Tah.

A flanker with no eyebrows isn't a footy player, he's a FREAK!!!

I want you Steward, one on one!! Bring it on big fella!

Does that Petty bloke ever stop yapping? He almost chewed my ear off at training the other night!

Hey Wayno, I'm desperate for some tips mate. A rugby brain like yours doesn't come around every day ya know!!

Gee's us Scots are good looking blokes aren't we Wylz?!!

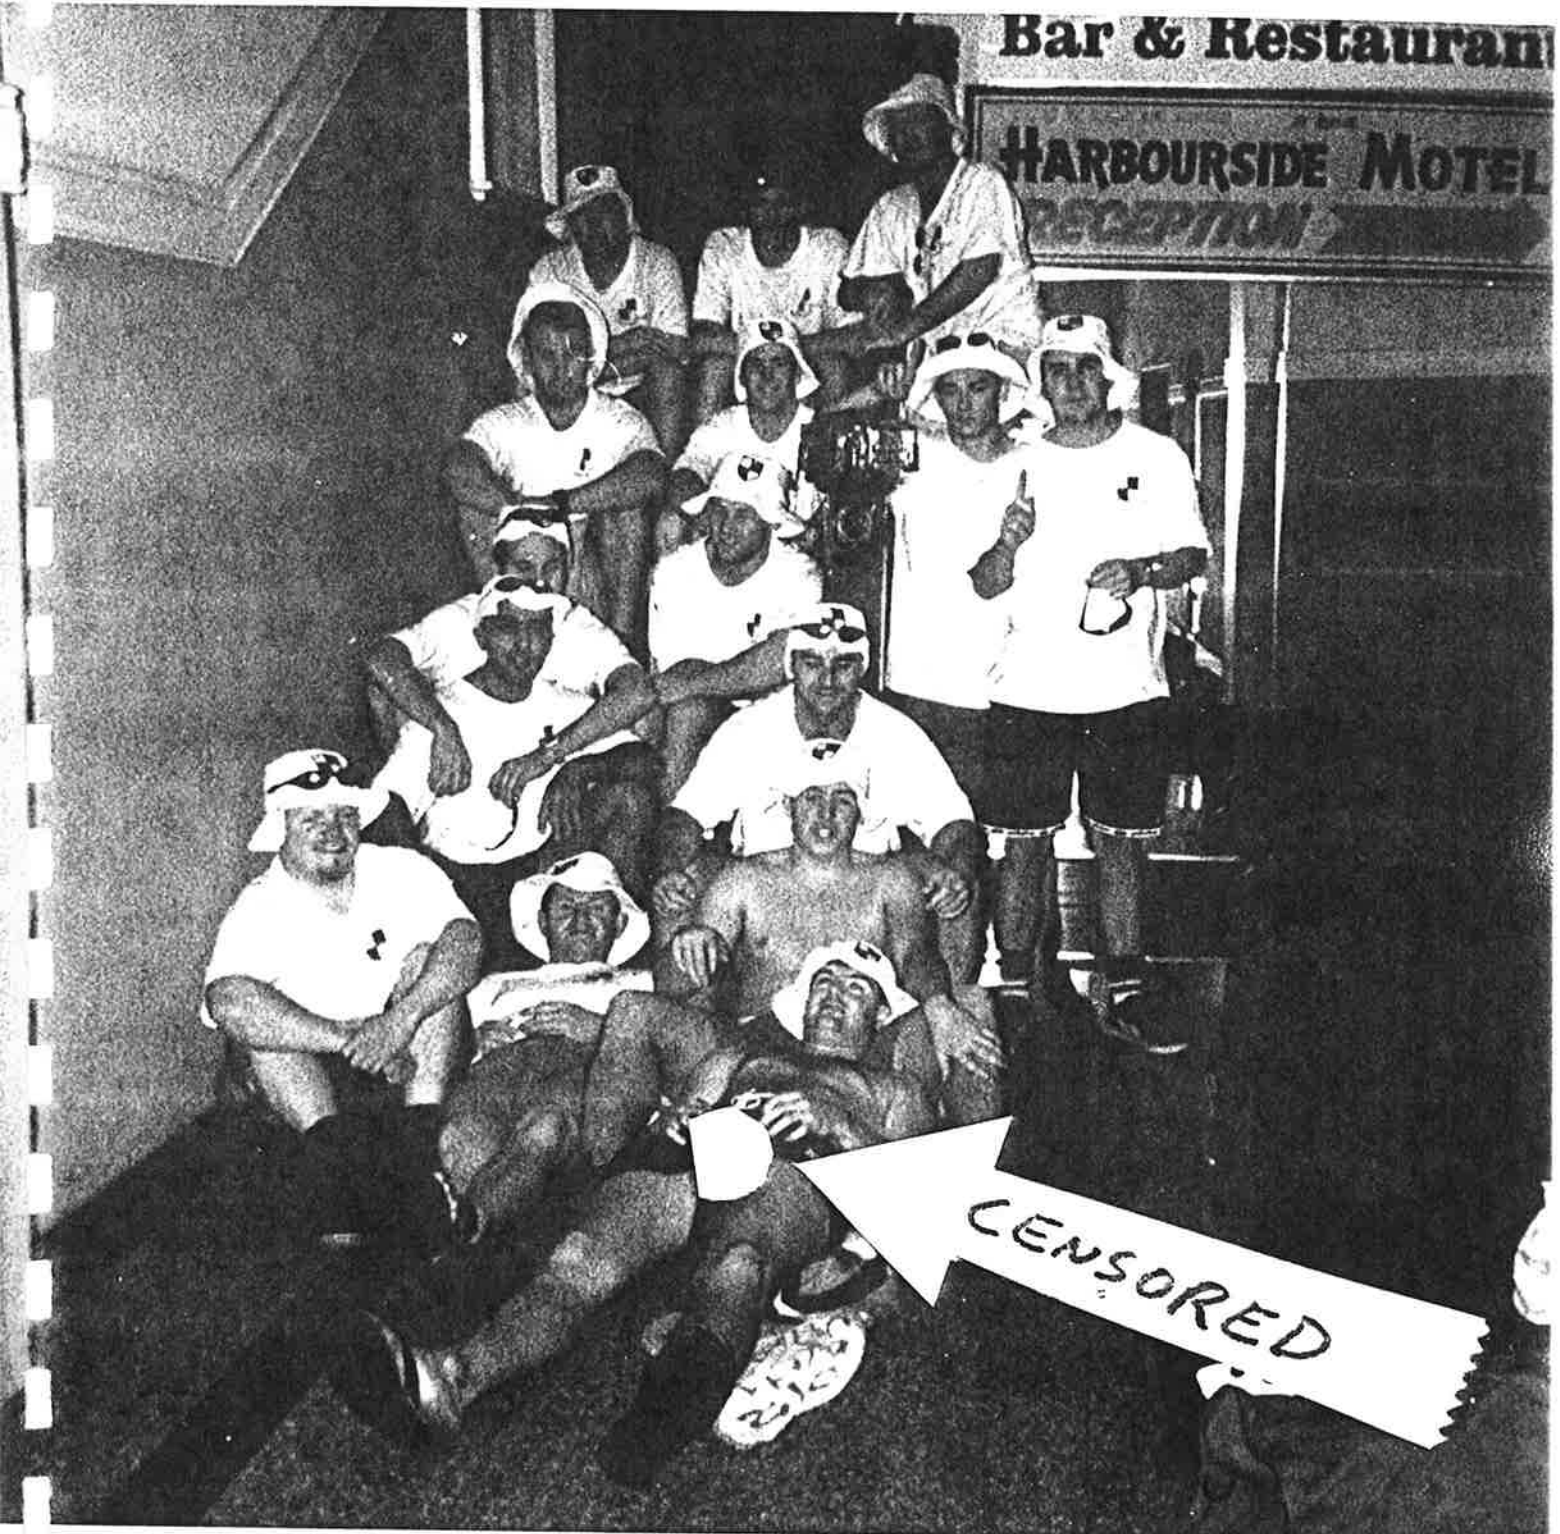

HK, the step thing still needs a bit of work, but the Goose part is fine.
