PRESIDENT'S REPORT

It is with some degree of disappointment that I present this Annual Report for the 1989 season. It was a season that saw a number of changes, not only throughout the players but with the Committee as well, and unfortunately the potential and improvement that was displayed throughout 1988 was not continued on.

In a season where rugby highlights were not of a frequent nature our defeat of Vikings, who were at that time unbeaten, provided one of the few occasions when satisfaction was felt.

While Barry McVicars' "Thirsty Thirds" proved our best performers it is felt that 2nd Grade and especially 1st Grade never fulfilled their true potential. So many times did the 1st Grade side give us glimpses of what their true ability was but they seemed to lack the necessary discipline and commitment to provide consistent performances.

One pleasing factor of the season was the large numbers at early season training which provided us with a solid foundation for what should have been a better performed season.

Congratulations to the following members on their individual achievements: Tony Quilbey, Josh Tito, Paul Malady, and Peter Quilbey, who all passed the 100 game milestone.

Wayne Boardman achieved the outstanding effort of playing 400 games.

I would like to thank all the members of the Committee for their support during the year especially the Executive: Barry McVicar, John Hayward, Rick Boyle, and John Whiddett. Also to all the players who represented the club throughout the year and to the ladies who provided their assistance at the barbecue and bar, with special mention going to Kathy Boardman for again providing us with the best facility in the district. Thanks very much.

Our club was fortunate once again to have the support of Tattersalls Hotel and Keiraville Pharmacy, we are most grateful for their generous financial support.

In conclusion my thanks to the coaches, Trevor Cowell, Les Porter and Barry McVicar, our trainer Michelle Leader, for the time and effort they provided and I hope the disappointment of 1989 can be forgotten with all club members ready to provide renewed enthusiasm, commitment and accept the challenge so that we will become more competitive in 1990.

Ean Torpy

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Another year has passed with the Club achieving mixed success during 1989. Although severe rainfall effected the first half of the season the club managed to play all scheduled games and maintain a strong united club.

The Club Committee during 1989 worked very hard to organise the club affairs and meet all commitments. Unfortunately only a small group of players were prepared to assist the Committee in the various jobs required in organising games, functions and fund raising ventures.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Committee members, players and wives who provided assistance through the year.

Special thanks also goes to the ladies, Kathy Boardman, Carol Cowell and Sue Terry for their effort in providing canteen services throughout the year.

The club's first grade side were strengthened by four welsh players and were unfortunate not to make the semi finals. Despite the rainfall and dislocation of the football season the club had an excellent year socially and on the football field.

A rugby club can only be successful if its members are prepared to assist in the running of the club's affairs and become part of the organised social functions.

Congratulations to all players, supporters and families for a successful 1989 and I wish you every success in 1990.

John Hayward

TREASURER'S REPORT

Financially 1989 has not been as successful as 1988. The main revenue raisers have been Tattersalls' Hotel weekly raffles, instant party raffle, and bar takings.

On behalf of the Committee I would like to sincerely thank all those members who conducted the Tattersalls' raffle each Friday. Up to 8th September our net income was $4,900, this figure is up on the 1988 figure due to the monster Christmas raffle. This income is extremely valuable to the Club so keep up to good work.

Food and beverage sales were reasonable, with a net profit of $3,486. This being approximately the same as 1988 figures. This is the direct result of very poor weather conditions for most of the season, which kept most rugby spectators indoors.

A disappointing aspect of our finances is our shortfall between the monies collected for registration and the fees charged by the I.D.R.U. Fees collected totalled $2,795. The Club paid I.D.R.U. fees of $3,100 - a shortfall of $305 - so if you are one who has not paid his fees please hand it to a Club Committee person.

At present I am unable to give a full statement of the Club's finances as a formal audit has not been conducted.

John Whiddett

COACH'S REPORT

1ST GRADE

The 1989 season was one where satisfaction was not enjoyed to the extent it should have been. I think everyone was aware that better results had been expected after showing so much promise in 1988.

Once again the Club was fortunate to have a Welsh connection to provide extra strength in the forward pack. The front row of Anthony Rees, Ian Greenslade and Dave Chin was probably the best front row our Club has seen for a number of years. Backed up by Shane McVicar and John Fox it provided us with a very solid tight five which never went backwards. While the serious eye injury to Colin Roberts was disappointing, Ken Wilyman and Gerald Harvey always provided the enthusiasm which led us to producing a set of forwards which on their day were more than equal to the best in Illawarra. Unfortunately a lack of discipline and inconsistent performances led to our downfall on more than one occasion.

The backs pleasantly surprised everyone with their attacking flair and at times enterprising football. Special mention should be made of Neil Forester who achieved the 100 point mark throughout the season and for the way he dictated the game with the aid of good service from Trevor Arthur. Our outside backs showed skills which we look forward to seeing more of with the steadying influence of Will Madden and Dave Birch in his new found position. Congratulations should go to Adam Bailey, Troy Taylor and Alan Faulkner on their initial season with the Club and for spirit with which they played the game.

Other good performances throughout the year came from Tony Quilkey, Tony Smith and Bill Barker.

Hopefully next year we will retain more than the majority of these players and with the experience gained from this season as well as learning by our mistakes the 1st Grade will perform to their true ability. It should be remembered that dedication and commitment is required ALL season to achieve satisfying results.

In conclusion, I would like to thank all players who represented 1st Grade during the season and hope that they enjoyed their rugby, keeping next season in mind.

Ean Torpy

COACH'S REPORT 2ND GRADE

..... Come on, get your drinks quickly, if you need tape, now's your chance, sit down and listen.

Overall you've done very well this half, the other team have had everything going for them; the wind; the sun; and the run down hill, come on look at the score board you're 3 points in front. In the second half we'll push on and take advantage of the breeze, you came from behind after a bad start. Put the two tries they scored in the first ten minutes out of your mind. We're still in there, you've fought back well.

Anthony, Craig, Tony - no Kav, bloody hell whose turn is it to play 5/8 this week!, well any way who ever you are, let's play the game in their half and take advantage of the breeze, we are in front, let's play it in their half. Yarlow we need good quick service. Phil you might have been late to the game again, but come on get the ball on the full. John great defence, Torpy will talk about that tackle on the far side for years, keep it up. Gordy, Dennis keep up the good work in defence, be ready in attach. You never know you might get the ball this week

Forward, we need to work hard on the scrums, tighten the lineouts and get to the rucks and mauls. I don't want to keep saying it but you're on top, keep it up. Come on Bob, I know it's hard to hold up your corner of the scrum, forget about having just played 3rd grade, it's unfortunate but we were short of front towers again. All those years training are finally paying off for you Bob. Beans, I know it's real hard to get to the breakdown, I'll be happy if you can get to one ruck out of ten. Mick, Lyndon you might only be jumping against dwarfs, but if you don't get your feet off the ground we aren't going to win too many lineouts. Mick get out there and provide those university fitness tests wrong, I always thought you could jump higher than four inches.

Finally, before you run on remember to play the game in their half and keep your mouth shut. The referee may be a bit of a goose but he is always right. Good luck.

..... Bad luck, I thought we had it there for a while. Oh well better luck next week. As that infamous coach, Tony Cheetham once said, "We'll kill 'em next week."

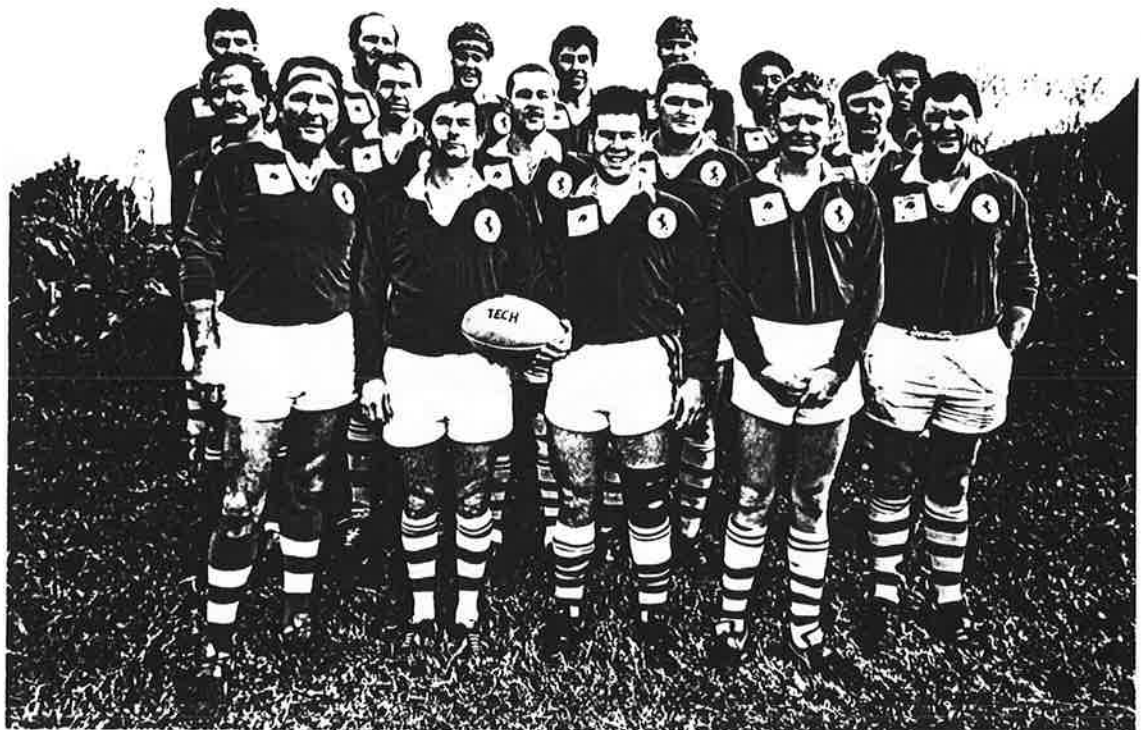

..... OK, who can't make it to training this week. Len how about you? 'No, I'm right mate'. Gordy, how about you? 'Thursdayitis'? NO! Good, see you all Tuesday.

If you played second grade during 1989, you would recognise this familiar scenario, at times we played well and were committed, but there's no prizes for finishing second. Early on we lost too many close games after leading at some stage during the game. I'm sure that you will remember the one hundred points or so we scored this year and like me anguish over the nearly four hundred scored against us.

On a serious note, thank you to all those players who persevered, training and playing 2nd grade this year. In my first year of coaching I enjoyed coaching and playing with you.

Thanks also to Barry, Trevor, Snail, Don and Tony for the help and assistance you have given me throughout the season.

COACH'S REPORT 3RD GRADE

The 1989 season was my first coaching appointment. I enjoyed coaching the 3rd Grade team, as I had a great deal of support from the veteran members of the team which enabled me more time to concentrate on assisting the young recruits, on the basics of rugby.

As in previous years, the 3rd Grade squad comprised of players of a mature age and also a new influx of young keen players of which the club was very happy to obtain.

Players such as David Scott, Mathew Pogson, Jim Gordon, Kav Yibouli and Dave Aremaki, have shown that they have the ability to become very good players, and clubmen. Congratulations to my star hooker, David Petty in playing 1st grade prop, (no wonder he spews every time he drinks).

I feel that my reliable prop Josh Tito's form and attitude slumped after he lost his virginity midway through the season.

The season was slightly disappointing for the 3rd Grade team, as I feel we had the players to win the premiership. Unfortunately, our training attendance become very poor, as the season progressed, and subsequently our form suffered also.

I would like to congratulate Wayne Boardman on playing his 400th game for the Club, and as our President, Ean Torpy would say, "simply magnificent". Congratulations to Trevor Cowell and Les Porter on their coaching achievements during the season. Also thanks to my Manager Steve Arnold and Strapper Michell Leader for their help. Thank you also to the players who supported and helped me throughout the season.

See you all next season.

400 up for Wayne the Brain

● Tech's Wayne Boardman pulls on the boots for his 400th grade game on Saturday.

By BRETT KEEBLE
Tech Rugby Club life member Wayne "The Brain" Boardman has been playing the game for 23 years and on Saturday will play his 400th grade game for the club.

Wayne will become only the second player in the Illawarra to make it to his 400th game. Ironically, his Tech clubmate Rick Boyle is the other.

Tech publicity officer Will Madden said Wayne played his 100th game in 1971, 200th in 1978, and 300th in 1983.

"Wayne has been actively involved in the club as a committee member, coach and player, and is one of Tech's most liked and most respected members," Madden said.

"He started his playing career like most novices — out on the wing. But the desire to chase the ball all over the park showed he was keen on a move into the pack.

"He played anywhere from wing to breakaway to the front row, and his skills kept him in first grade for many years."

Madden said Wayne was not satisfied with just playing and formed a junior team within the club.

'BRAIN' TO PLAY 400TH GAME

"With the help of his wife Cath, and other friends and relatives, Wayne formed a junior side and acted as their coach, manager, strapper and chauffeur," he said.

"Twice weekly, he would pick the boys up from their homes, take them to training or to the game and home again, then race back to the ground to play his own grade game.

"Initially there was no junior competition in the Illawarra and he drove the boys to Sydney in search of a game.

"He coached Tech's juniors for 11 years and to his credit, at least three of his understudies went on to play for NSW Country."

Wayne was honoured by the club last October when he became a life member, and the club will hold a function for him after he plays for Tech's third grade side against Vikings at Saunders Oval on Saturday.

Wayne's one last wish is to play rugby with his son Adam.

CLUB CAPTAIN'S REPORT

1989 started well with good numbers at training and everyone keen to play. Things got a bit bogged down with the rain and not too many home games in the first half of the season. With the odd "Dollar Dazzlers" and a few "Pie and Beer Nights" however, we drank our way through.

The "Thirsty Thirds" started the season looking possible semi contenders. Carrying on from 1988 and with a bit of luck and a few more of "I take it" Torpy kicks going over - maybe things could have been different.

Wayne (The Brain Boardman) made the occasional guest appearance to make his 400th game - a great effort from Wayne. I am sure he has a few more games left in him - maybe 500?

"Porters Possibles" had a hard road all season with not too many high points. However, with Les on and off the field giving it his all maybe with a few more players giving the same dedication and determination things would have been different.

It was good to see all the side at some time throughout the season playing 1st Grade. I think we will be seeing a lot more of them cementing a position in 1st Grade in the years to come.

1989 started where 1988 left off - everyone on a high - expecting firsts to go better and make the semis. With a lot of home grown talent and a few Welshmen we had the side and on the day they could have beaten any side in the competition.

Finally I would like to thank all the players and supporters for the good times and friendship throughout the season.

See you all next year.

NEWCASTLE RUGBY TRIP - 15, 16 & 17 September 1989 -

The Social event of the decade, or at least the month, happened over three almighty days in the northern town of Newcastle.

Twelve of the Club's most esteemed members (joined later by four more) took a fast train to Newcastle on Friday arvo after an initial thirst quencher at Tatts. The express train they were on was only passed by an old steam train, twice.

On arrival at the Great Northern Hotel (all 95 rooms of it) the terrible twelve, as they did not come to be known, all tried to crack on to the one receptionist girlie at the counter. Failing that the teetering twelve confronted the bar and consequently the barmaid - Surefa, Surena, Suriana, Saminella or whatever her name was. Barmaid 12, boys 0 - so they drank. Here they met a number of Newcastle Welsh rugby players, who just happened to be there. That evening, after planning the nights pillages, the tenacious twelve sat down to a humungous feast at the pub restaurant. At the end of which three more of the trippers joined the fray. The now famous fifteen were ready to tackle Newcastle - but not before a number of members helped the waitresses in the kitchen. They washed and wiped and then did the dishes.

Showtime. A nice place to go when in Newcastle is the Art Gallery - but who the hell wants to go there on a bloody rugby trip - they went where the booze and chicks were!

FANNYS . . . is now called the BREWERY and the flatulent fifteen sunk a few ales and admired the personalities inside the girls blouses.

From that point on, deeds, actions and memories became blurred as the fearsome fifteen became a thinner thirteen, then a never-die nine. One reported highlight was the expert way in which outside centre (with short sandy hair, a mo and a seafood title) who shall remain nameless, handled three burly bouncers at the Workers Club. Resembling a spider caught in its web the member, who apparently very politely and naively requested a dance with a lady, was helped out of the Club after the lady denied him the honour. After the incident the member was heard to comment 'I was gonna drop the drongos!'

Saturday morning broke - as was everyone else - and the new regrouped, rehashed (Room 5--), hungover but eager fifteen breakfasted before playing a game of touch over in the park. Before going further it should be added that one of the lads (a chap who is often mistaken for Phil Kearns) must have eaten a bad sock or something on Friday night and as a result awoke on Saturday morning with his hangover lying next to him. The theory about high pressure water and dirty sheets was also disproved.

At the by game - Rugby was the winner! Ah bullshit, with the Welsh President refereeing while playing, the rules were not understandable, let alone the decisions. However the flighty fifteen were undoubtedly the match winners. Post game activities included a beer, a jog on the beach, a beer, an optic nerve on the beach, a beer, a dip in the ocean and some lads had a beer.

The team they played were from Newcastle Welsh Rugby Club and they came back to the Great Northern where now their fifteen and our fifteen could all try the barmaids again. Now who should walk in but Richard Mega McRae, bag in one hand and beer in other. The 'slurring sixteen' now complete, the next night of revelry was planned. Like any good plan it came unstuck and a few went here and a few there, but each group definitely managed to find - more booze and more chicks!

Back at the Workers one member was crucified by the fairer sex for wearing a singlet. Yes, that's right, hard to believe but there is a poof among us wearing a bloody white, polyester-cotton, 1915, bonds singlet. Probably wearing Y-fronts as well.

Another member was checked for his continual use of the noun fornicate, on which he asked the boiler to stand elsewhere - like under a falling bridge.

Two younger lads boast of having performed mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on the same girl before blaming each other for a case of herpes simplex B.

One group ended the night with a little ruck and maul practice using a $2-pizza as the ball.

Sunday morning was broker than Saturdays, however the 'surviving sixteen' managed to make the train (after a few heart-starters and a hearty sausage roll breakfast) and head south again.

The trip home (a good reference for this report) was a time to reflect and a better chance to look up the short skirts of the girls on the platforms.

Back at Tatts the rest of the kitty was put across the bar as the mob settled in to watch the entire final four minutes of the semi-final - Alas the trip had drawn to a close - nearly. Three lads would not say die - or eat, or sleep, or go home or anything sensible - went to the Illawarra to have a nightcap or two and discuss politics and religion, like "Do ya think I'd win any votes pinchin a nun on the arse?"

One month ago a team set out for a game of touch on a Saturday morning in Newcastle. One man was lost in the confusion, he was found yesterday floating on his overturned crutch eating fish, he had been bludgeoned with a plastercast.

CONCLUSION OF PRESENTATIONS.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

The annual general meeting of the TECH RUGBY CLUB will be held on TUESDAY 24TH OCTOBER, 1989 at the club room beginning at 7pm sharp.

This meeting is the most important meeting that the club holds each year, as it is an opportunity for you to voice your opinion in the running of the club, also to stand for a position on the club committee which will make most of the important decisions in the 1990 season.

Attached is the list of positions that the management committee is made of. EVERY MEMBER is strongly urged to attend this important meeting and consider standing for a position.

Remember you need a committee before you can have a club.
